ABRAHAM KRIEL BAMBANANI B-BBEE OFFERING

Abraham Kriel Bambanani (AKB) cares for and develops children and youth from birth to adulthood. All activities of AKB contribute to B-BBEE in some way.

As a non-profit company that operates with donor funding, companies can make financial contributions to the activities of Abraham Kriel Bambanani to earn points for their B-BBEE scorecard. The most common practice is for companies to contribute towards the Socio-Economic-Development Element.

SED Element

Companies are required to contribute 1% of NPAT to earn the 5 points available for this element. Any contribution directly to AKB will earn a company the maximum points. (Sector codes apply. Please confirm with your BBEE consultant.)

Abraham Kriel Bambanani has a Beneficiary Verification Certificate that proves that it has at least 95% black beneficiaries. (Requirement 75% black beneficiaries)

This means: On the SED element of your scorecard you can donate any amount as needed to earn points.

Please note that all bona fide donations to AKB will qualify for a Section 18A receipt, which will give your company a tax benefit.

Skills Development Element:

This is a priority element and it is critical for South Africa's prosperity and very important on the scorecards of most companies. The bar is high and your company may need to invest outside its own staff component to achieve the 40% minimum required for this target.

AKB provides Skills Development opportunities through which your company can earn valuable points. We can provide you with qualifying Black South African individuals (in accordance to the B-BBEE definitions) who are undergoing skills development.

➤ Students doing accredited short courses.

We recruit unemployed individuals from the Soweto communities of Emdeni, Zola and surrounds to undergo accredited short courses at AKB's Skills Centre in Emdeni. Because of the endemic poverty in the region, students cannot afford to pay for themselves and they need your funding. The accredited courses qualify as category E on the skills development matrix.

Why are these courses important?

- Unemployment amongst youth in South Africa is one of the greatest risks to the future stability of South Africa. The short courses we offer is a first step in the process of improving the employability of young adults.
- Outcomes we strive for is for alumni from these courses to:
 - Qualify for further training
 - Start their own small enterprises
 - Find employment
 - Gain access to learnership programmes

- Courses that we offer include:
 - ICDL = International Computer Drivers license (3 months) @ R6 794 per learner
 - Basic Computer coding @ R1 739 per learner
 - Assistant Chef Course (4 months) @ R16 993 per learner
 - Painting and Tiling Course (3 months) @ R3 519 per learner
 - Vegetable cultivation in tunnels (6 months) @ R8 122 per learner
- Facilitation of the courses will cost R144 000 for the year or R36 000 per course

Depending upon the requirements of your sector codes for Skills Training recognition, you may choose to fund an individual black student or the Facilitator that we contract to present the course.*

➤ Tertiary students doing formal training

Some beneficiaries from our programmes qualify for tertiary education. Donors can provide bursaries for qualifying black candidates to do formal training at tertiary institutions such as Universities and Colleges.

Funds need to be paid to AKB (an invoice is available on request), who will manage the funds and payments to students on your behalf. In this instance, you will also receive an 18A receipt.

In accordance with the YES programme, the gap to cover accommodation, study material, travel and sustenance to such students also counts towards your target. This enhances the student's chances of successful completion of his/her studies significantly.

To visit any of the programmes that are available for funding or for more information about funding opportunities, please speak to one of the Social Funding Developers, or contact me directly.
